

CCBC Presents it's New Website!

With the help of Garrett Fuller, Garrett's Websites and Boonville Technical Education Center (BTEC) Marketing Student, Anthony Reasons, the Board of Directors demonstrated this new website at the CCBC General Monthly Meeting on Tuesday, April 14, 2015.

Mr. Fuller and Mr. Reasons are two of our community's talented and young entrepreneurs. Just a sophomore at Boonville High School (BHS), Mr. Fuller is the owner of and website designer for Garrett's Websites. He and Mr. Reasons have done a tremendous amount of high-quality work in a timely fashion and the CCBC is very proud of what they have accomplished with our new website.

From small to large groups and organizations, a strong online presence is essential to maintaining a strong and instantaneous connection to the world around us. This new website will be CCBC's "online communication hub". This resource provides quick and easy access to our calendar of events, newsletters, information regarding room/building rentals, donations via PayPal, and much more!

CCBC's website is now live and ready to serve you!

Welcome to the CCBC!

The CCBC or Concerned Citizens for a Better Community, is a service organization located in Boonville, Missouri dedicated to improving the community and quality of life through events, fundraisers, and more. We are located in the old Summer School, a segregated school constructed in 1939 used until 1950 when the school system was desegregated.

CCBC Hosts "Kids Fest" with Cooper County 4-H Youth

For the first time, CCBC partners with the Cooper County 4-H Youth Programs to bring additional activities to the children and youth of our community.

A "kick-off" for this partnership was held Saturday, April 11, 2015. Children ages 5-18 were invited from Cooper

County and the surrounding areas to join in a day of fun. Fifty five (55) children/youth and their parents participated in this event.

Ten stations were spread throughout the CCBC Community Center with activities such as painting, crafts, science, cooking, leadership, target mastery, air rockets, conservation and bucket gardening.

Throughout the day, the kids were able to go station to station and enjoy a hands-on activity. The stations provided a taste of what will be offered in 2015.

A huge "THANK YOU" to the following donors, volunteers, and sponsors for their invaluable contributions, helping to make this event a huge success:

- Boonslick Master Gardeners
- C&R Market
- Cody Kennedy, Fred's Restaurant and Lounge
- Gordon's Jewelers'
- Missouri River Relief
- Sam's Club
- Wal-Mart of Columbia
- Pizza Hut

“Pick-Up Boonville 2015 - CCBC shows its pride in its neighborhood!”

Saturday, March 28, 2015, a team of dedicated volunteers joined over 300 volunteers around Boonville, to pick up garbage and refuse in our community. The CCBC led the clean-up efforts in the East of Boonville.

Like many rural areas, Boonville is vulnerable to littering and illegal garbage disposal. Consequently, our older and less populated areas, such as the East of Boonville are all the more susceptible to this type of activity. During the clean up, CCBC's team ended up with the biggest haul of trash! Refrigerators, mattresses, BBQ grills and couches were no match for this team!

CCBC is also proud of Joan Read and Jennifer Davis for being honored by Missouri River Relief for their extraordinary dedication to our community and the environment.

We are honored these ladies are members and supporters of CCBC!

All meetings are held at the CCBC Community Building, 1111 Rural Street, Boonville, Missouri.

CCBC Easter Fashion Show 2015

CCBC held an Easter fashion show, Sunday, April 5, 2015, resurrecting a cultural tradition in its community.

This tradition, celebrating Easter “in style”, used to be held and facilitated by area churches. Now, the CCBC will host this event each year to ensure this element of our community’s culture is enjoyed well into the future.

Natesia Jiles, the event’s facilitator, wanted the event to be similar to a dinner theater. Clothes were provided by Mid-Missouri clothing designer, Anna Linzie and different styles were enjoyed throughout the day.

Participants and guests enjoyed the event, which also included, a Cake Walk, Easter Egg Hunt, dinner, and spiritual dance performances by Jiles and her daughter, in addition to Morgan Street Baptist Church’s Youth Ministry.

Meet CCBC’s New Treasurer Natesia (“TC”) Jiles

Natesia (“TC”) Jiles is the daughter of Helen Fisher and the late Ernest (Gene) Fisher. Natesia graduated from Boonville High School (BHS) in 1980, then continued her education at Kansas City College for medical and dental assistants, graduating as a medical assistant in 1981. She has been working as a lab/medical assistant at an outpatient cancer clinic since 1995. In 2000, Natesia became a certified American Red Cross instructor for CPR/ First Aid.

In 1999, Natesia married Rudy Jiles and they have one daughter named Acacia.

Natesia has a passion for youth and senior citizens. Natesia loves being a youth leader and a Sunday School teacher. Natesia also received her Step Up to Leadership Certificate through Central Missouri Community Action (CMCA). “

“As a member of CCBC, I want to help bridge the gap between the youth and the senior citizens and help both generations understand each other”.
